INSANE WOMAN

the subject of insanity and knowing that she is insane, Jennie Bickner, aged forty-eight, walked into the probate court and asked for Judge Merrill. The experienced judge did not need to be told that he was dealing with a lunatic, because insanity was apparent in every action of the woman.

"Judge, I'm insane. I feared insanity and made a study of it. The more I thought about it, the more insane I became. I'm being persecuted, and I'm dangerous. You'd better send me out

The judge asked the woman to please go to jail. She did so; then the judge ordered Dr. Baldwin to examine her. The doctor reported that there was no question about the woman's insanity, and Judge Merrill ordered her taken to the State hospital.

AUTO AND FALLING MAN

John Beck, chauffeur for a Pittsburg visitor, drove his car on the sidewalk in an attempt to catch Joseph Martino, a laborer, who he saw toppling from a house, thirty feet in the air. Beck was within three feet of the falling man, when he crashed down to the sidewalk. Martino was dead when picked up by Beck and fellow-workmen.

ELKS HORS DE COMBAT, ATE TOO MANY CRABS

WHEELING, W. Va., July 31 .- Twen ty-six Elks of this city have returned from Atlantic City, where they went after the Philadelphia convention, and are suffering from poisoning as a result of a crab feast given to them by the At-

Mayor Charles C. Schmidt, who was elected grand trustee, was compelled to take to his bed, and is unable to administer the affairs of the city. R. S. Dillon, a daimond broker, was compelled to call a physician before leaving the seashore, and was in a serious condition, but is now recovering.
